

ABSTRACT

An ad reselling system that sells targeted advertisements, which replaces standard advertisements in a video signal. The standard advertisements are detected and replaced with the targeted advertisements. Sponsors of the targeted advertisements are billed when their advertisements are used to replace other advertisements.